2. Calls to Remembrance, January 29 at Otterbein College and January 30 at OSU.

Please join us for our "Calls to Remembrance". Two cultural commemorations of the World War II internment of Japanese Americans through the lives and writings of Toyo Suyemoto and Lawson Inada.

On January 29 at Otterbein College, Philomathean Room in Towers Hall, 4 p.m., Tuesday January 29
On January 30 at Ohio State University, Frank W. Hale Jr. Black Cultural Center (153 W. 12th Ave.)
11:30 (reception), 12-1:30 (program), Wednesday January 30

Toyo Suyemoto (1916-2003), internee and writer, has been described by Lawson Inada as the Japanese American "poet laureate." She had long-term ties to central Ohio and worked for over 20 years at Ohio State University.

Lawson Inada, also an internee and the current poet laureate of Oregon, is a pioneering Asian American author who combines his love of jazz with poetry.

See FLYER for all the details or contact Prof. J. Wu wu.287@osu.edu or Prof. Jim Gorman JGorman@otterbein.edu

3. 9th Annual JASCO Japanese Language Speech Contest. Deadline is January 30, 2008.

Wild about the Japanese Language or just enjoy a good challenge? The Japanese Language Speech Contest is the place for you to be! Meet others who are learning Japanese and who are interested in Japan! Win great prizes! Categories for both high school and college students. See FLYER for all the details and an application.

4. Sumi brush painting workshop

Sumi brush painting will be taught at the Upper Arlington Senior Center on Wednesdays from 7pm – 9pm starting January 30 to March 5, 2008. Sumi is a form of painting in which black ink is applied with a brush to absorbent white paper. The brushwork is straightforward as only four basic brush strokes and simple techniques are used. By varying the pressure on the brush and the intensity of the ink, a monochromatic tonality is achieved that expresses emotion as well as captures forms. Students gain greater control of the brush and come to appreciate the beauty of sumi and its simplicity. Weekly lessons include practice for basic brush strokes, handling of white space and practice painting of flowers and animals. A supply list is mailed one week prior to the first class. The cost is $70 for residents of UA and $77 for non-residents. Call Lifelong Learning to register at 614-583-5333.

5. Bonsai Styling Session.

Join your fellow bonsai enthusiast at Franklin Park Conservatory, 1777 E. Broad Street Columbus Ohio, on Wednesday February 6, 2008 from 6:30-8 pm. Bring your own bonsai tree and tools, or purchase a tree and tool set at class, and practice your wiring skills and pruning techniques with the help of FPC bonsai specialist, Dan Binder. Understand more about bonsai growing needs and pot selection, and learn to identify pests before they become a problem. Examples of advanced bonsai specimens provide inspiration and help you envision a direction for your tree. The cost is $40.00 and more information can be found by calling 614-645-8733, 1-800-214-tree or at www.fpconservatory.org.

6. Art on a String exhibit at Capital University Schumacher Gallery, March 3, 2008 – April 11, 2008.

Kites were invented and popularized in Asia more than 3,000 years ago. Although many designs remain traditional, Asian kites feature a variety of imaginative shapes and are associated with festivals, holidays, and special events. Opening Reception: Friday, March 7, 5:00 - 7:00 p.m.
(Please Note: The gallery is closed March 20 - 24 for Easter.) M-Sat 1pm-5pm

7. Columbus Asian Festival, May 24 and 25, 2008 at Franklin Park Conservatory.

Join all the fun at the Columbus Asian Festival! The event is free and there are many activities for people of all ages. Please go to the website <http://asian-festival.org/index.do> for all the details.
